For example, using the units given on the original math source: If you put "the field is $60^2$ M" in, and "un is $5\text{cdot}10^9$ N" in, the mathematical result is 560 M. Make a right click, choose Format and choose "Current Unit" and "Metric". Now you can, for example, transform from "meter" to "m" (and the result will be 0.05609 m). But, if you transform from "meter" to "inch", you get "0.00390625 inches" So there may not be a way to do exactly what you want. You'll have to do it manually. Just to help you in case you don't have access to wolframalpha, here's some programming code that generates the equivalent in both unit systems: S_un = 12.5e10 #pounds in 1cb139a0ed
