On Frog Island you have to solve light puzzle, build your way through those rooms which are not connected to each other and when you reach that cave, which you have to dig through you can be locked in there. The goal of this game is to defeat the end boss. You can choose your characters from 8 different classes: Fighter, Mage, Thief, Magician, Warrior, Monk, Paladin and Druid. All classes have different stats and passive abilities. We have already launched this game two years ago. We are new in the online games market and we like to continue this game. So we will tell you about the game, and what new or not-so-new features will be added: - A lot of new graphics - Better sound - 5 new levels - 3 new soundtracks - More items and quests - A complete new character editor which allows the player to change the looks of his characters

Game Welcome to Frog Island! On this island there is a cave with special stones. On the bottom of the cave there is a path which is only accessible through the cave and it leads to the end of the island. Within the cave you have to build a bridge of eight special stones in order to reach the end of the island. Because the bridge is very fragile, it's very important that you don't try to destroy it as you will lose forever. Prepare your strategies for this puzzle game!

CONSTRUCT YOUR BRIDGE! Game We are happy to present this new puzzle game which is developed by us and our friends. The aim of this game is to build a bridge through the nine rooms. You can build the bridge by using bricks, magic stones, clay pots, etc. The bridges move as long as you build it. But be aware of the upcoming obstacles on your way to the bridge, because they can prevent you from reaching that bridge!

Game This is a brand new game which we recently developed for the game portal Rockfellow. This game is a really nice puzzle game and we are pleased to present it for you. What do you have to do? You have to use colored bricks in order to build a path which leads to the goal. But be aware of the obstacles on your way, because they can block you from reaching the goal. The goal of the game is to be the first player to get to the goal. Game YOUR PURPOSE IS TO DEFEAT THE

What's new:

Bullshit Books for Bullshit Readers By Alfred Lawless Chapter One "It's open," I said as I knocked my knuckles on the frame of the door. "Are you decent?" I heard the dry scrape of a lock and a man's voice said, "Yes." The door opened onto a small office with a plain wooden desk and two file cabinets to one side of the room. A black & white television was mounted at the end of the desk facing out the room; its tube was showing a recent prime-time show. On its forward edge sat a filing cabinet, with a white, rectangular box and two wooden chairs placed perpendicular to it. There was another small, round table that looked like it was covered by a navy plaid cloth. On its surface rested a pottery bowl with a cup and saucer around it. I also smelled coffee. A tall, lean man stood up from behind the desk. I made eye contact with him. He smiled at me, then nodded to the entranceway. "Come in. Have a seat." I walked into the room, slowly, but met his stare. "I appreciate you giving me this time," I said. "I may know nothing." The man seemed amused. "Then we can move straight into the questioning. I'm David Trehearne." "Jay Arthur Neil." I held out my hand. He shook it with his eyes alone, then he returned it to his desk. Trehearne was in his late forties, broad and muscled, with wiry, pale blond hair and sharp blue eyes, just a little closer to that of an ice pick than of a blue-blooded aristocrat or a benevolent God. "So, how can we help you, Jay? If it's as little as a cup of coffee, we'd be delighted." I shook my head. "I don't need any help. But it's the sort of thing I can't find anywhere else I want to live." "Well, that's more than some people say on the subject," Trehearne said. He leaned back in his chair. "So, tell me what it is you know. I assume you know something, so you're not just dropping in on your own." "I want to find out about my father," I said, and waited to see if he'd react. He started
