District Court of Appeal of Florida, Third District. February 18, 2009. *747 Robert J. Reiter, for appellant. Bill McCollum, Attorney General, and Douglas J. Glaid, Senior Assistant Attorney General, for appellee. Before SHEPHERD, CORTIÑAS, and SALTER, JJ. CORTIÑAS, Judge. The appellant, Elizabeth Akers, appeals the summary denial of her Florida Rule of Criminal Procedure 3.800 motion seeking credit for time served in the county jail as a condition of bond. We affirm. A criminal case begins when a defendant is charged and is taken into custody. The concept of custody attaches even before the filing of a complaint or formal charge. As such, the defendant may not be made to serve any of his or her sentence without credit for time served while incarcerated prior to the imposition of sentence. State ex rel. Porter v. This infographic from CNN explains why red meat is part of a healthy diet and we also have the answer to what is the recommended daily intake of red meat for Americans. [Through Thick And Thin. "Mark Twain said, "A lie can travel half way around the world while the truth is putting on its shoes." I have always loathed this saying. There are three things that take time, a lie, patience, and persistence. A lie is a lot more pervasive and powerful than the truth."]Q: Why node.js 6.x require throws different errors as node.js 5.x? Acute gastroenteritis is one of the most common and important causes of illness in tropical regions of the developing world. It is also a major cause of morbidity and mortality in young children in these areas. We reviewed the available data on the aetiology, clinical features, methods of diagnosis and methods of prevention and treatment of diarrhoea in hospital and community settings. We conducted a Medline search using the terms: acute diarrhoea, aetiology, tropical region, developing world, severe dehydration, severe watery diarrhoea, management. We also reviewed the literature on diarrhoea in rural villages in the Pacific region of South-East Asia, Papua New Guinea and the Fiji group of islands. Enteric pathogens are responsible for the majority of acute diarrhoea in children in these areas, and despite the availability of safe and affordable vaccines, only a small proportion of children are immunized against diarrhoea. Infection with multiple pathogens is common in these settings. The clinical features and severity of acute diarrhoea are more severe, and faecal volume is more commonly reduced, in young children than in adults. Management is based on replacing fluids, electrolytes, improving fluid and electrolyte homeostasis and minimizing the risk of dehydration, and on providing adequate nutrition. The causes of diarrhoea are varied, and it is important to establish aetiological diagnoses. In the absence of microbiological confirmation, disease activity may be assessed by measurements of clinical severity such as degree of dehydration and frequency of passage of loose stools. Enteric infections are the commonest cause of acute diarrhoea.Q: Rails 4 and JSON,
