NEXGENOW Cd archery wf27 The archery program pro keygenAdvocates opposing ballot-initiative legalization of marijuana for recreational use hope to have a head start as well as a head start. Measure 2 would amend the state constitution to legalize and regulate the personal use of marijuana by adults 21 and over. In a rare example of action by state legislators during an off-year election cycle, the Senate on Wednesday night approved Senate Bill 2, which is now headed to the Assembly. However, the coalition that supports the measure, not only has organized but has run a television ad campaign, while opponents have formed a website to register voters opposed to the measure, and put out a radio ad. Although the “Yes on 2” ad was broadcast on local television for the first time during a Utah football game Wednesday night, and funded by the statewide Coalition for Responsible Cannabis Policy, it will air only on local television markets, not statewide, in an attempt to give backers of the measure a head start in getting their message out to voters. The opponents have every right to register voters against the measure, said Holly Keri, president and CEO of the Drug Policy Alliance, which opposes legalization. The drug policy lobby has a history of trying to change people’s mind about particular ballot measures, she said. “We have every right to run ads that attack their opponents,” Keri said. “They can do that by telling voters their opponents are funded by special interests who don’t care about you or your family.” The coalition for the initiative — including the Utah Marijuana Policy Project, the Utah Patients Coalition, and the Utah Medical Association — has raised $600,000 for the campaign, the majority of which is being spent on the TV ad. The measure is non-partisan and has the backing of the Utah Nurses Association, the Utah Pride Center, the Utah Dental Association, the Utah County Commission on Aging, the AIDS Foundation, the American Diabetes Association, the Good Samaritan Food Bank, the Perma-Guard company and a number of other groups. The No on 2 campaign features a website, SayNO2, and radio and television ads attacking the measure. The group is also sponsoring Senate-side Democratic floor speeches and House-side GOP floor speeches against the measure. The Senate approved the measure unanimously, 29-0, and it now goes to the House
