Our article was mainly focussed on illustrating how to use video editing software like Adobe Premiere Pro and Adobe After Effects to create an animated video. For web designers, Photoshop offers an alternative solution to producing an animated GIF. To create a GIF animation in Photoshop, let's first consider the basics of the process. It goes without saying that you need to create a GIF animation first before you don't know what to do with this work. For example, if you want to create a GIF of two people shaking hands, you first need to create an image of a man and a woman shaking hands already. What you need to do is convert this image to a GIF file. However, there's no need to overthink this here, because Photoshop has all sorts of tools for just that. Photoshop is part of the Adobe Creative Cloud, which includes other popular tools such as Adobe Illustrator, Photoshop Lightroom and Adobe Dreamweaver. Photoshop Creative Cloud allows users to work on image and graphic content from anywhere. As with its Elements stablemate, Premiere Elements, Photoshop Elements for macOS matches its Windows 10 counterpart feature-for-feature. The software requires macOS 10.14 or later, but it doesn't yet support Apple Silicon M1-based Macs. That's on Adobe's roadmap for the software, however. An Adobe M1 webpage(Opens in a new window) details the company's progress in moving software to the new hardware platform. Unlike Premiere Elements, Photoshop Elements is available on the Mac App Store, which simplifies installation, updating, and moving the app to another computer.

To further empower content creators and professionals, Photoshop has added the ability to load a new canvas within a document, enabling users to start a new file with a single click. In addition, retouching tools have been improved, making it easier to select, edit and remove areas of an image. Retouching tools in Photoshop now also support selections saved in Adobe Camera Raw Lightroom, enabling users to apply editing changes to managed collections. Additionally, Photoshop will now display UI options for using the new Photoshop Content Bundles feature. A new UI for the Content Bundles panel has also been enhanced with the addition of tabs, making it easier to manage multiple document presets.
